Dear Colleague,

We are delighted to announce that the abstract of the best overall poster or short talk presented at SHREG 2022 will be considered as a research letter to be published in the journal Reproduction & Fertility. There is still time to submit an abstract to showcase your work in poster format (all delegates) or as an oral presentation (trainees and students). The deadline for abstract submissions is 20 March 2022.

As Fertility 2022 became a virtual meeting, SHREG will be one of the first fertility conferences in the UK going ahead in person, with delegates from the five fertility units in Scotland, staff and students from the Universities of Dundee, Abertay, Edinburgh, Glasgow and York, as well as our international speakers, Denny Sakkas (Boston IVF) and Juan Garcia Velasco (IVI Madrid). It promises to be a wonderful two days of talks, networking and discussions.

Places for SHREG 2022 are going fast so don't forget to register HERE to ensure your place.
